To provide people with the best possible information on medical topics – this is the mission of Apotheken-Umschau.de. And this also applies to the other websites in the brand family, namely “Baby und Familie”, “Diabetes Ratgeber” and “Senioren Ratgeber”.

All content is presented in an easy-to-understand format, scientifically well-researched and absolutely independent. It goes without saying that this is no substitute for a conversation with a doctor or pharmacist, but the information provided helps to pave the way for and supplement such a conversation, while also explaining medical topics in layman’s language and supplying practical everyday tips.

The quality of the information provided is regularly reviewed by external experts and confirmed with a “seal of approval”.
